

About us

Lancashire Occupational Health and Safety Group was established in 1930 and is looking forward to its 82nd year. We represent organisations of all sizes across the county with regards to all aspects of occupational health, safety and accident prevention.

Our meetings

Our highly experienced executive committee set out an exciting and informative programme for all our members every year and 2012 is no exception. Most meetings feature an expert guest speaker who has been specially invited to share their own area of expertise with all members.

Here to help

With practitioners from many different areas of health and safety, LOHSG members are never short of someone to turn to seek advice. Our membership is made up of all types of organisations and industries and our meetings are relaxed yet informative so that everyone benefits.

More information

You can simply come along to a meeting or for more information contact a member of the executive committee (see back of this programme for details). Our new website features minutes of past meetings and other useful information – we hope to be updating this throughout 2012 to improve it for members.
